

Local Solutions to the Global Agriculture Crisis

Latin America Meets Central Jersey

Thursday September 13, 2007

7:00-9:00 PM

Princeton University

McCosh 28

Join farmer leaders from Latin America and New Jersey for a panel discussion on the global rural crisis and how you can help by supporting local food systems and fair trade.

International Participants:

Mr. Braulio Alvarez, Venezuela

Mr. Juan Tiney, Guatemala

Mr. Diogenes Lucio, Ecuador

Ms. Maria Munoz, Colombia

Mr. Milton Fornaziere, Brazil

Local Participants

Pam Mount, Terhune Orchards

Peter Southway, Dairy Farmer

Representative from Greening Princeton

Mikey Azzara, Northeast Organic Farm Association - NJ

Sponsors: New Jersey Sustainable State Institute, Northeast Organic Farming Association of New Jersey, Weston A. Price Foundation, Presbyterian Church Hunger Program, World Hunger Year, Small Planet Fund, Global Food & Agriculture Coalition, The Alberto Lovera Bolivarian Circle of NY, and the following departments at Rutgers University (Office of VP Isabel Nazario, Office of International Programs, Bloustein School Dean's Office, New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, Graduate Student Association, Black Student Organization for Planning and Policy, Rutgers Association of Policy and Planning Students, Center for Latino Arts and Culture, Department of Latino and Hispanic Caribbean Studies)